SLAVS RELEASE UNRRA AGENT

Free U. S. Engineer but Declare He Engaged in "Espionage."

By The Associated Press

BELGRADE, Oct. 6—(Delayed)—The Yugoslav government released today an American construction engineer with UNRRA who had been held 10 days on charges of espionage.

Simultaneously, U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson announced that regular C-47 transport planes were replacing B-17 Flying Fortresses in "full airline service" between Vienna, Austria, and Udine, Italy, on the route which skirts Yugoslavia.

The UNRRA engineer, Robert [illegible] of Independence, Mo., left Belgrade this afternoon by plane for Rome on his way to the United States.

UNRRA officials, who demanded complete information on [illegible]'s case last week, received a letter from Gen. Vladimir Velebit, Yugoslav assistant foreign minister, accusing the engineer of collecting detailed information about the Yugoslav army's disposition and strength."

In announcing resumption of U. S. army C-47 service between Italy and Austria, Ambassador Patterson said the pilots were given strict orders to avoid crossing over Yugoslavia.

All U. S. military flights between Vienna and Udine were halted temporarily after Yugoslav fighters shot down two unarmed American transports in August. Five American airmen lost their lives when the second plane crashed in flames Aug. 19.

(In Rome Royal Air Force officials said that all RAF flights over Yugoslavia had been temporarily suspended after a Yugoslav fighter forced down a British [illegible] plane last Friday.)

Dreamboat Officer Sees Arctic Commercial Flights Possible

By The Associated Press

CAIRO, Oct. 7—The communications officer of the Superfortress Pacusan Dreamboat, which flew non-stop 9,500 miles over the Arctic circle from Honolulu to Cairo, said today that commercial air service over the top of the world was practicable from a communications standpoint.

Lt. Col. F. J. Shannon, called back to Army service especially for the test flight from his job as engineer for radio station WCAU in Philadelphia, said high radio frequencies were blacked out repeatedly by sunspot flareups but declared:

"If commercial airways decide to use this region as an air route I believe they could have successful communications with a few well placed low frequency radio stations."

Shannon pointed out in an interview that the shortest distance between many population centers was across the northern wastes.

The commander of the Dreamboat maintained meanwhile that the 276-mile-an-hour trip had proved the ability of the B-29 to defend the United States over any part of the world."

The Dreamboat landed at Payne Field in the desert near here at 9:57 a. m. (2:57 a. m. EST) yesterday—39 hours, 36 minutes after the takeoff on an epochal flight to test equipment in Polar weather.

"Did Its Job"

Col. C. S. (Bill) Irvine of St. Paul, Neb., pilot of the big four-engine Boeing and commander of its 10-man crew, said the flight had proved the Superfortress "would do its job" of defending the United States anywhere.

The Dreamboat had been stripped even of de-icing equipment to carry a heavier fuel load and had exhausted all except 400 gallons of its 13,000-gallon supply by the end of the trip.

But Irvine told reporters the United States Army's new B-36 bomber could have made the same flight with a bomb load.

(In Washington, Gen. Carl Spaatz, Army Air Forces commander, said the journey had proved "the feasibility of a flight across the Polar wastes by properly equipped aircraft" and had given valuable information on problems of navigation, engineering, communications, weather and physical endurance.)

Col. Irvine said the flight had shown the magnetic North Pole to be about 200 miles closer to the geographical North Pole than scientists had believed.

Inspired by Talk

Col. Irvine said his flight had been inspired by Gen. Spaatz' talk of global air warfare.

On the trip, the Dreamboat passed over three oceans—Pacific, Arctic and Atlantic—and three continents—North America, Europe and Africa—and bisected the Arctic circle—once reporting from Prince of Wales Island 400 to 500 miles within the circle.

The plane was the most heavily loaded Superfortress ever to take off when it lifted 74 tons, more than half that in gasoline, into the air at Honolulu.

To escape icing conditions, it flew most of the way above the clouds and higher than its most efficient altitude of 10,000 feet, once going to 22,000 feet between Baffin Land and Iceland. With better conditions, Col. Irvine said, it could have gone about 1,000 miles farther to Chartoum.

The Dreamboat beat its own predicted flight time of 41 hours but did not win back the non-stop record taken from it recently by the Navy's patrol bomber, the Truculent Turtle, which flew 11,-

Deadline Falls at 9 P. M. Today for Registration

With only a few hours left today in which to register and transfer to be eligible to vote in the general election on Nov. 5, persons were standing in line at the board of elections office today. The office will remain open until 9 p. m. tonight.

Indications were that the total registration would surpass the expected 17,000 mark by more than 100. City registrations today stood at 17,045, with 92 registrations and 88 transfers reported Saturday, the biggest day the election board office has had since before the May primary.

Absentee voters began casting their ballots in the office today, with anyone expecting to be more than 50 miles from his voting precinct on election day eligible to vote by absentee ballot until 6:30 p. m. Oct. 31. To date 19 civilians and four service men have voted by absentee ballot.

Voting for disabled persons will begin Oct. 21 and continue through Oct. 31. Persons wishing to vote by disabled ballot must first make application at the board of elections office in order that their ballots may be mailed to them.

Election board officials explained that any persons who has moved into the city or who has failed to vote in the last two years must re-register and those within the city who have moved from one precinct to another must transfer.

U. S. TO REMAIN FIRM ON FREE TRIESTE STAND

Connally Informs Conference America Will Make No Concessions.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 7—Senator Tom Connally told peace conference delegates today the United States would make no further concessions on the Trieste issue and urged the adoption of commission recommendations.

Connally (D-Texas) was the first speaker in general discussion under the chairmanship of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin for its final sprint of treaty drafting.

Backed By Two-Thirds

Connally reminded delegates the outline of principles for the projected free zone had been backed by two-thirds of the Italian political commission and then added:

"It outlines principles without which no settlement is possible."

The senator declared that, for the United States, the Trieste agreement was "one decision, one agreement in which no part can be separated from the whole."

"A just solution of the problem of Trieste and the frontier between Italy and Yugoslavia," he said, "is the keystone of the peace treaty."

"Unless this statute becomes operative," the senator warned, "our obligations toward the population of Trieste cannot be discharged."

Must Be Independent

"The city must be founded on democratic principles. It must be free and independent, so organized that it can have a life of its own, free from outside influences, from any one power or group of powers."

Connally said it was not enough to agree on words, "which can be and will be interpreted in various ways," but that the treaty and the security council must give residents of the zone the greatest opportunity to handle their own affairs.

Columbus Car Strike Approaches Deadlock

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7 — Negotiations between the Transport Workers Union (CIO) and the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. for a settlement of the transit strike here were reported today approaching a deadlock.

H. J. Montoney, U. S. labor conciliator, issued the following statement last night following two conferences between company and union leaders lasting six hours:

"Unless the situation takes a sudden turn for the better Monday negotiations appear to be headed toward a stone wall and the strike will be a long, drawn-out affair."

Thirty-seven demands made by the union include a 30-cents hourly wage increase against the management's offer of eight cents.

Hull Reported "Out of Immediate Danger"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — Cordell Hull, who suffered a stroke a week ago, now "appears to be out of any immediate danger," Bethesda Naval hospital reported today.

The 75-year-old former secretary of state, who rallied over the weekend after being in a critical condition for several days, rested well last night and continued to show improvement.

Japs Adopt "Anti-War" Constitution 342 to 5

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Oct. 7 — A revised "anti-war" constitution outlawing the maintenance of armed forces, drastically curtailing the emperor's political powers and granting the people a specific bill of rights was accepted by the house of representatives today.

The vote was 342 to 5, four Communists and one independent dissenting.

This means the cabinet of Shigeru Yoshida will resign within six months after promulgation of the constitution and the house of peers will disappear at end of the current extraordinary session.

The new document was prepared under American guidance.

LAUSCHE PRAISES SCHOOLS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7 — Gov. Lausche today praised Ohio's 54 universities and colleges for handling an enrollment of 125,000 students, as compared with a peacetime record of 53,000. "To my thinking," the governor said at a press conference, "congratulations should be given to the heads of these institutions for handling the tremendous enrollment problem that confronted them."

POWER STRIKE HITS WARREN AND NILES

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Oct. 7 — Members of the CIO-Utility Workers Union walked off their jobs at 6 a. m. today at the Warren division of the Ohio Public Service Co. in a strike which threatens to curtail use of electrical power by Warren's 55,000 residents and 16,000 persons in nearby Niles.

Picket lines of unionists, striking to support demands for an 18-cent hourly wage increase, formed around the company's huge generating plant shortly after daybreak.

Company officials said only supervisory employes were permitted to enter the plant in a move to "avoid conflict" in a factional dispute between the local CIO union and the AFL-Operating Engineers. Both unions have claimed a majority membership of the firm's 110 workers.

O. P. S. said operations would be maintained by supervisory workers but predicted that power service to manufacturing plants here and in Niles, where electricity is purchased "wholesale" from the Warren division, would be curtailed seriously.

L. L. Franklin, general manager of the O. P. S. Warren division and vice president of the company, reported the firm would cut power service to manufacturers "85 to 90 per cent" and that other consumers would be asked to "use a minimum" of electrical power during the stoppage.

NAB YOUNG DRIVER AFTER LONG CHASE

Fined $100 and Application for License Cancelled.

A 19-year-old Marion youth, who led a police squad car a merry chase up streets and alleys in the northeast section of the city about midnight Saturday, pleaded guilty in municipal court today to five traffic violations.

He is John Junior Miller of 132 Barnhart street. He was fined $100 and costs on three counts, speeding, reckless driving and passing a red light. A $10 fine, which was suspended, was levied when he pleaded guilty to charges of failure to stop for officers and driving on a learner's permit unaccompanied by a licensed driver. His application for a license was cancelled and driving rights denied for one year.

Police reported Miller, who was alone, was hailed by the squad car, in which there were two officers, when they saw him make the corner at Oak and West Center streets at a high rate of speed. He refused to stop and was chased at what was reported a 60-miles-an-hour clip for about 15 minutes.

Power Strikers Prepare Offer

Company To Get New Proposal Today; Pittsburgh Stores Reopen.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 7—A new independent union offer in the power strike which has laid a heavy hand on this industrial center for two weeks, was slated for presentation to Duquesne Light Co. officials today as department stores decided to reopen and a rebellious group within the union pushed plans for recognition.

George L. Mueller, president of the independent union of about 3,500 workers, said his group's proposal would be secret until "the company looks it over."

The Golden Triangle's largest department stores, closed more than a week since union pickets brought a stoppage of street car service, arranged to open on a limited basis with emergency power generators. Store executives said a big "shoppers' famine" existed and their 15,000 employes were concerned about loss of wages.

City police took early measures to handle expected traffic jams on streets already crowded by autos filled with passengers who normally ride streetcars.

Another strike development was the announced closing of about a dozen parochial schools. Church authorities said lack of trolley service was the main factor. Public schools remained open.

While Pittsburghers struggled with strike inconveniences and federal conciliators sought peace, the revolt within the independent union's ranks gained momentum with the dissenting faction—esti-

Ohio Teacher Flies To Job at One-Room Island School

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 7—Though she lives only four miles away, Mrs. Earl Hallock, teacher in the rural one-room school on North Bass island, flies each day to her classroom. The U. S. department of education says it knows of no other air-commuting school marm.

She flies to her classroom because plane transportation from her home in Put-In Bay, O., on South Bass island, is the swiftest way to span the four miles of water between the two islands.

Mrs. Hallock's mode of transportation is no more surprising to her 11 elementary grade pupils than the fact that she is flown to them on the world's shortest airline.

Operated by Milt Hershberger, the island air service, now in its 16th year, serves as the lifeline of the Erie islands in the winter and is an integral part of island life the year round. Main airport and base of the service which extends from Port Clinton on the mainland to Kelleys, Middle Bass and North Bass islands, is at Put-In-Bay.

Simple Matter

It is a simple matter for Mrs. Hallock to step from her home in Put-in-Bay and ride the air mail to North Bass and her classroom. It's just as simple for her to return to her home when classes are over.

Stepping from the plane at the airfield which cuts a swath through the island, Mrs. Hallock enters the leisurely life of the Isle of St. George, as the natives call it.

The grape-growers who live there have provided a one-room school, housing eight elementary grades, for their sons and daughters. The school house with its great pot-bellied stove has been changed little since it was built more than 50 years ago. Water still is taken from a pump in front of the bell-towered, shaded, white building which hides the crescent-cut door of a smaller edifice at the foot of a path in the rear.

Wide Variety Of Weather Greets Americans Today

A wide variety of weather greeted Americans today.

It was [illegible] in the southwest, snow in the northwest, [illegible] off in the midwest and [illegible] in the east. Most residents of Florida were battening things down in expectation of a hurricane.

A storm developing in New Mexico caused considerable rain through the southwest and Central Plains states. Amarillo, Tex., reported 2.19 inches of rain in the last 24 hours, Guymon, Okla., 2.39 inches and Wichita, Kans., 1.94.

Colorado, Wyoming and the western portions of the Dakotas had snow, with prospects of more tonight.

Cooler weather from that area was reported moving very slowly eastward across Wisconsin and lower Michigan today with [illegible] lower temperatures forecast for the [illegible] in general. Throughout the east warm weather still held sway.

In Florida, hurricane warnings were extended [illegible] northward through the state after the federal warning service at Miami said a severe hurricane had lashed the western tip of Cuba last night and would strike the Florida west coast by about midnight tonight.

Truman Studies All Sides of Meat Issue

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, reiterated today that President Truman "is considering every possible aspect of the meat situation."

Ross made this assertion when he was asked about a proposal respecting the meat crisis which a reporter said had been made by Agriculture Secretary Anderson. The proposal was not described.

Meanwhile, government statistics showed no feed pinch to ease the meat shortage by forcing cattle to market.

The bureau of agricultural economics said today the nation's feed supply actually is big enough to support more livestock than are likely to be fed.

Bolstered by a record corn crop, the feed supply prospect as a whole is much more favorable than it has been since 1942, the bureau's report declared.

SUPREME COURT OPENS SESSION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 — The feud-torn supreme court, fully manned for the first time in more than a year, opened a potentially-historic new term today.

Justice Black and Justice Jackson, principals in an inner court row that Jackson has termed no "mere personal vendetta," did not look directly at each other. They sat four chairs apart in the places assigned to them by custom.

Mrs. Harry Truman, wife of the President, and Mrs. Fred M. Vinson, wife of the new Chief Justice, were among a large group of friends and high government officials who witnessed the brief ceremony.

Vinson, who sat for the first time in the chair of the Chief Justice, in the center of the high mahogany bench, stumbled almost imperceptibly as his foot touched the first step to the bench. Justice Black touched his arm, as if to help him, but Vinson recovered

CITRUS CROP IN JEOPARDY AS STORM RAGES

Weather Bureau Predicts 100-Mile Winds Will Rake Area.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 7. The entire west coast of the Florida peninsula was placed on an urgent alert today and advised to evacuate beaches with hurricane warnings flying as far north as Cedar Keys as a vicious tropical storm with winds of more than 100 miles an hour boiled into the Gulf of Mexico and placed Florida's $150,000,000 citrus crop in jeopardy.

The weather bureau said the present course of the hurricane will send it raking along the resort and crop-producing section of the west coast. The storm center, which has veered slightly in its direction at least twice since it surged to hurricane strength, very likely will strike the coast somewhere between Fort Myers and Tampa, but may howl inland north of Tampa, it was indicated.

Center Near Key West

At 11:30 a. m. EST, the center was 130 miles due west of Key West. Top winds of 60 miles an hour at Key West began to diminish, and unless a radical change of direction develops, the Florida Keys and the rich Miami-Palm Beach "Gold Coast" will miss anything stronger than heavy rainsqualls and moderate gales.

A record citrus crop is nearing harvest with some picking already going on, and a hurricane could wreak maximum damage on it at this time.

Gales Predicted

Gales are predicted for the glossy green groves which are concentrated inland, but many of which slope down toward the lashing waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Wind whipping through the groves would knock off millions of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines which are well along in development but not ripe enough for harvest. Most of those shaken to the ground now would be lost.

Approach of the storm caused postponement of the All-America Conference football game here tonight between Miami and San Francisco.

As the storm approached the Florida Keys, a fleet of Red Cross trucks, escorted by state highway patrolmen, rumbled over the overseas highway to bring out all who cared to leave their island homes for shelter in either Miami or Key West.

The storm center was 140 miles southwest of Havana at midnight with winds of 60 miles an hour at Dry Tortugas, a group of 10 coral islets 65 miles west of Key West.

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 7—Mass evacuation of some 2,000 residents of the government sub-division, Poinciana Place, began this morning as navy vessels put out to sea to ride the outskirts of a tropical hurricane which was lashing this tiny island city.

Gusts over 60 miles per hour were reported by the weather bureau, with a sustained wind of between 48 and 50 miles per hour whipping across the Atlantic and sending mountainous waves hundreds of feet inland.

The navy opened emergency shelters and prepared to evacuate the complement of the Boca Chica naval air station even as government trucks and buses carried families from Poinciana Place to sheltered evacuee centers.

ERIE ACQUIRES NEW SUPERSONIC DEVICE

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7 — The Erie Railroad Co., has announced the acquisition of a supersonic device for use at their Hornell, N. Y., shops to detect fatigue cracks in locomotive crankpins and axles.

H. D. Barber, vice president of the Erie, reports that this new instrument, the Sperry Supersonic Reflectoscope, affords faster and more effective maintenance of locomotive during overhaul.

"At the present time," Mr. Barber said, "the Reflectoscope is being used largely to test axles and pins which have been normally removed during overhaul. Its advantage is that it can not only locate the crack but also can determine its size and extent.

"It is also possible," Mr. Barber said, "to use the Reflectoscope to test these and other rolling stock parts in the assembled position, representing a considerable saving in time and labor."

J. B. Farwell, president of Sperry Products, Inc., manufacturers of this new development, says, "The Erie was the first of the nation's railroads to use the Reflectoscope for locomotive maintenance. Other railroads also are now using it.

The Reflectoscope sends supersonic vibrations through the part being tested and electronically measures the length of time it takes these vibrations to penetrate the material and return from the opposite side, or from an internal defect. Defects appear as distortions of the scanning line on an oscilloscope screen somewhat in the manner of much publicized radar.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

Migraine

We do not know what causes migraine, the one-sided headache which is so severe that some have referred to it as the "grandaddy of all headaches."

There is, however, a theory that the attacks, which are periodic, come on because of release into the blood of a substance known as histamine. This, is turn, is thought to occur as the result of some hidden allergy. Doctors conjecture that people who have migraine headaches may be over-sensitive to some substance, such as food or pollen or dust.

Whatever the substance may be, the theory is that when these people come in contact with it, they react to it by a release of histamine into the blood.

Histamine is ordinarily present in the cells of the body, but only a very tiny bit indeed is normally present in the blood stream. Some people seem unable to tolerate any larger amount of this substance in the circulation and they are the ones who are believed to develop migraine when histamine enter the blood.

Because of these considerations, Dr. Stuyvesant Butler and Dr. William A. Thomas of Chicago treated a number of patients with migraine by giving them injections of histamine in gradually increasing doses. Thirty-four patients were included in the study The histamine was dissolved in a salt solution and injected very slowly into a vein, about five drops per minute.

The entire injection usually took from four to eight hours. As many as three or four treatments were given with a day of rest between injections. The preparation was not used in patients with heart disease, high blood pressure or kidney disease, nor was it used in patients who had ulcer of the stomach or bowel.

Of the thirty-four patients seven were greatly improved and twenty-four became completely free of their symptoms. In the other three, no improvement occurred. All of the patients were observed for at least six months after the treatment was employed.

Of course, treatment of this type must be carefully carried out, since certain reactions may occur such as a severe headache, an attack of hives or even asthma. On the other hand, the results obtained seem so good that many patients with migraine might find it well worth employing, particularly where the usual treatment with drugs fails to bring relief.

THE REASONS BEHIND OUR REQUEST

NO MORE Changing to Gas Heat from Other Fuels This Season!

The unprecedented requests for changing to gas heat threaten to tax our transmission and distribution systems beyond the limits of good service. This comes at a time when it is impossible to secure the pipe, fittings and compressors necessary to handle the overwhelming demand.

WHY THE GREAT SWING TO GAS HEAT?

For years gas has been sold as a heating fuel of luxury value. Numerous tangibles, other than fuel cost, were included in its value to win public acceptance. Now the rise in price of other fuels makes gas heat the most economical today on a straight fuel cost basis in nearly all areas in this general part of the country. Also, many customers tell us that the uncertainty of supply of other fuels has affected their decisions to change to gas heat.

MATERIAL AND LABOR SHORTAGE

You who have been trying to buy an automobile, soap chips, white shirts or other scarce items readily will understand our position. We are trying to spend some 25 million dollars to improve the facilities for bringing gas from the abundant fields of supply to your premises. Because of the dire shortage of necessary materials and skilled manpower to install them, only a fraction of this 25 million can be spent this year.

TEXAS GAS

The Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation, which owns a line bringing a large percentage of our gas from Texas fields, have plans for adding to the capacity of their system for several hundred miles. When completed this will increase substantially the amounts of gas they can deliver to us. By the time this project had run the necessary gamut of federal hearings and approval secured, it was too late to obtain materials to bolster our supply until the coming heating season is far advanced.

From the Panhandle and Eastern Pipeline Company, another western gas supply, we have been able to contract only half the gas we requested for regular delivery. The situation is not likely to improve until their facilities can be increased.

NEW SUPPLY FOR EXTREME WEATHER

At two key points on our lines we are installing a total of 110 tanks of 30,000 gallons each which will be filled with propane (liquid petroleum gas of a type commonly used by families living beyond gas lines in rural areas) which will blend with our gas. The project will make available the equivalent of 65 million cubic feet of gas a day. This supply is intended for use only in extreme weather. It will exhaust itself in a few days of use and our suppliers will require months to refill the tanks.

A new, large compressor station near the Ohio river intended to bolster the supply of gas to our transmission system can be but partially completed this winter. A large trunk line to run north and south through the heart of Ohio can be no more than 25 percent completed this season. Some of the orders for pipe placed last year are not promised until 1947.

SOME NEIGHBORHOOD LINES OVERLOADED

A survey just completed has disclosed that more gas heating installations have been made in some areas than the capacity of our street mains can serve adequately. Only major unsurmountable problems are mentioned here. There are many, many lesser ones.

HEATING CONTRACTORS AND DEALERS COOPERATING

These reasons have prompted the decision to discontinue the sale of gas heating equipment to those having other forms of heating, at least for the coming season. Responsible heating contractors and dealers are cooperating by adopting this plan. The plan has been cleared with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

Customers, who now have bona fide orders for gas heating equipment on file with us or with heating contractors filing with The Gas Company, will be protected under this new policy. The reason for this is because such persons have lost their place in line for re-ordering the fuel they have been using.

INDUSTRIAL CURTAILMENTS LIKELY

This winter, during periods of severe weather, it most likely will be necessary to curtail industries using gas in their manufacturing processes. All large users of gas for industry have been notified of this possible condition, thus giving them time to make other provisions. Even with this relief, it is possible that some areas will experience low gas pressures if outside temperatures become too low.

PROTECTION FOR G. I. HOUSING

We have a dual obligation to G. I. veterans and the Civilian Production Administration. With both, we intend to cooperate fully by making gas service available to permanent new construction. Through this conservation program, installation materials and resources can be made available for new buildings.

DON'T BE MISLED

By giving you and our other customers reasons for this immediate action, we hope to have the same support from you that heating contractors have promised. Let no one persuade you that the facts are other than here stated. The delay in converting your present heating system to gas until a more favorable time is the best protection of service to your community.

Homeowners Asked Not To Use Gas If Other Fuels Available

A request to the public that there be no more changing to gas heat from other fuels, this season, was made today in a statement issued by C. E. Sechrist, local manager, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

"The unprecedented requests for changing to gas heat threaten to tax our transmission and distribution systems beyond the limits of good service," Mr. Sechrist said "This comes at a time when it is impossible to obtain pipe, fittings, and compressors necessary to handle the overwhelming demand

"Those who have been trying to buy an automobile, soap chips white shirts, or other scarce items will understand our position. We are trying to spend some 25 million dollars to improve facilities for bringing gas from the abundant fields of supply to your premises Because of the dire shortage of necessary materials and skilled manpower to install them, only a fraction of this 25 million can be spent this year."

Mr. Sechrist said that some of the orders for pipe placed last year are not promised until 1947 As examples of major construction projects that are being held up, he said that a new, larger compressor station near the Ohio river, intended to bolster the supply of gas to the Ohio Fuel transmission system, can be only partially completed this winter A large trunk line running north and south through the heart of Ohio can be no more than 25 per cent completed this season.

Capacity Overtaxed

A survey just completed has disclosed that more gas heating installations have been made in some areas than the capacity of the company's street mains can serve adequately.

"These reasons have prompted the decision to discontinue the sale of gas heating equipment to those having other forms of heating, at least for the coming season" Mr Sechrist stated "Responsible heating contractors and dealers are cooperating by adopting this plan. The plan has been cleared with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The reason for this is because such persons have lost their place in line for re-ordering the fuel they have been using"

Fear Low Pressure

Mr Sechrist said that during periods of severe weather this winter, it most likely will be necessary to curtail industries using gas in their manufacturing process Even with this relief, it is possible that some areas will experience low gas pressures if outside temperatures become too low

"We have a dual obligation to the GI veterans and the civilian production administration," Mr. Sechrist said "With both, we intend to cooperate fully by making gas service available to permanent new construction. Through this conservation program, installation of materials and resources can be made available for new buildings"

"Freezing" of installation of gas heating equipment has been taken in past weeks, some as early as last spring, by big companies serving Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee, and other large areas," Mr Sechrist concluded

A LESSON FROM THE CHINESE

● The story is told that the Chinese pay the doctor to keep them well, and if they contract illness, the doctor pays them instead. Whether or not this story is true, the general idea is sound. Serious illness often can be prevented by regular health examinations. Form a habit of visiting your doctor often—at least twice a year. If you do not have a family physician, we will be glad to recommend several from whom you can make your selection.

Change in Reservation Brings Death To Mrs. G. E. McCormick

Success in obtaining a reservation on the ill-fated overseas airliner that crashed in Newfoundland last Thursday two days earlier than she had originally planned to fly to Europe to join her husband in Germany, cost the life of Mrs. Dorothy Gertrude McCormick, 29, wife of Lt. Col. George E. McCormick, Jr., further word received by the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George E. McCormick of Russells Point, reveals.

Anxious to join her husband as early as possible before their child was born, Mrs. McCormick, through the efforts of her husbands commanding officer, was able to get a reservation on the Frankfort-bound plane that left two days earlier than the airline she had planned to take to Paris. Col. McCormick was in Frankfort awaiting the plane's arrival when he received word of the crash. In a telephone conversation with his parents Saturday he said he expected to leave today for his wife's home at Lebanon, Mo., and will visit his parents before returning to his duties.

Mrs. McCormick's body, one of the few not burned in the subsequent fire, will be returned to Lebanon for burial. She left Lebanon for Washington, D. C., Sept. 18, three months after her husband left the United States for his assignment in Germany where he is in charge of the Army-occupied Grand Hotel in Nuernburg. In addition to her husband Mrs. McCormick is survived by a step-son, George E. McCormick III, a senior at the Missouri Military academy, Mexico Mo., and a sister in Missouri.

Things Could Be Worse

AN appealing note is creeping into Democratic campaign oratory, a familiar note that millions of voters have heard before.

It is the argument that the United States should be grateful for what it has received under Democratic administrations—so grateful it will not turn against Democrats running for office this year under the handicap of shortages and a general condition of economic, political and ideological confusion. These things, Democrats say, were to be expected. They occur after all wars The United States should be thankful things are not worse than they are, because look how bad they are in other places. Prosperity is just around the corner, if the people will be patient.

Perhaps it really is unjust to hold shortages and related confusions against the party in power. But that's the way it works in politics. In 1932 the United States, which had enjoyed its highest national income and greatest prosperity under Republican administrations since 1921, had heard appeals from party spokesmen to keep on being grateful. The appeals began in 1930, when Republicans were trying to hold their majority in congress, as the Democrats are trying to do this year. Congressional elections that year swept out so many incumbent Republicans that a house margin of 100 members was reduced to a margin of two; the party also lost five seats in the senate

It was explained that conditions were bad everywhere, that the United States was more fortunately situated than other nations and that if the people would be patient the Republican party would have everything back in shipshape condition soon. Prosperity, it was pointed out, was just around the corner. Things could be a lot worse and the truth is they weren't so bad. That was the majority party's campaign line from 1930 to 1932. There was only one thing wrong with it.

The country was running out of patience. It saw nothing ahead but more of the same. In one of the shrewdest and hardest-hitting campaigns of propaganda ever loosed on popular opinion in this country, Democratic retainers led by Charles Michelson smeared the Hoover administration with the blame for everything from the international collapse after World War I to the state of the weather. In 1932 and every year for the next 12 the Democratic party ran its campaigns against the political symbol of the people's resentment for the depression and won. They are using the same tactics again this year, but there's on thing wrong with it.

They are on the defensive themselves now. The country is running out of patience. It sees nothing ahead but more of the same. The Republicans have no Michelson to smear the incumbents, but under the circumstances they need none. Democrats have their own built-in apparatus for committing character assassination on each other, a split party. It's ironic, the way it's turning out. It may upset the Democratic majority in the house, or come as close as it did in 1930. It may mean that Harry Truman at the end of four years will have no more political future than Herbert Hoover had at the end of four years. Things happen that way in politics.

But let no Democrat above the age of two years utter a complaint. It isn't on record that any Democrat ever turned compassionate when the tide was running the other way and it was Republicans pleading with voters to be sensible and not hold adversity against party in power. Turn about is fair play. The Democratic party set a bad precedent in 1930, 1931 and 1932 for claiming in 1946 that voters should be patient because things could be a lot worse.

The Big Rodeo

THE astonishing notion has been voiced that cattle raisers who aren't marketing their stock are on strike and therefore must be subject to government seizure.

There is, of course, no resemblance to a labor dispute. Even if there were, the government would be in a foolish position if it held that only members of labor unions had the right to hold out for more money in this country. Farmers wouldn't like that.

Since the beef industry exists everywhere that cattle are raised for market, there also would be a ticklish problem of seizure The government would have to decide whether to seize the cattle or their owners. The cattle would be a handful, and some of the owners have a nasty habit of keeping a loaded shotgun behind the door.

Furthermore, the way it looks from 'way back yonder in the 50-cent seats, Harry Truman and his range riders already have a few too many bulls by the tail to be thinking of seizing a couple hundred thousand frisky steers in their spare time. Next thing they'd be seizing pigs, then chickens, and it might lead to horses. What happens to horse-seizers in this country shouldn't ever happen to politicians who got into bad company and went wrong.

HARDLY A PRIVILEGE

A Russian scientist predicts the extension of the average life span to 150 years. This should make it possible for the average citizen to participate in five or six world wars instead of only two.—Washington Star.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Sugar Goes Abroad To Create U. S. Shortage.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Where is the sugar? The New York waiters ask me. They have to handle it like gold, doling out little thin packages of perhaps 100 grains each, no two of which could make your morning coffee palatable. Grocers and consumers in the midwest asked me, where is their sugar? They cannot get as much as the coupon ration allows and in some sections, they say the commodity is more scarce than during the war. Further up the scales of commerce, the industrial users of sugar have secretly formed a committee, which now is at work on the shortage to ascertain if more cannot be pried loose to keep their businesses going better. Much talk is floating around the country about black markets and particularly blackmarket storage, also about the huge supplies seen here and there. But according to my information even the commercial gangsters in the dark market business want to know also what happened to sugar

Cuban Crop

"You can launch your inquiry into the facts by ascertaining at once that there is no shortage of production. The Cuban crop, which normally supplies the northeastern United States, has run up one half million tons over last year. The domestic production of beet sugar out west has been good enough to make the commodity plentiful on the Pacific coast, where it is piling up, with importations, in storage bins, for a particular reason, to wit:

The federal government has refused to allow sugar dealers to charge an increased price for the increased cost in handling, freight, cartage, etc, for shipping into the interior The dealers claim they are operating on a small margin of profit and cannot afford to absorb this increased cost. So they store instead of shipping, and thus the interior of the nation has fallen far below its normal supplies, while at the points of shipping origin, the market is overflowing into storage.

So the shortage has been accomplished in the midst of abundance. Indeed there are some experts who suspect the Cuban crop is larger than the Institute there has admitted, and that the excess is being bought by private interests and held from the market.

However this may be, the shortage was accomplished amid plenty by what might be called the Wallace foreign policy. He advocated it. His foreign trade theory is that if we lend tremendous amounts of money abroad for foreign nations to buy things we do not have enough of, benefit will derive to some un-named parties. In a word, we have shipped tremendous amounts of sugar abroad. Out of a Cuban export crop of 3.8 million short tons in 1946, the government has allocated nearly half of 1.7 millions to Britain, France, Belgium, Norway, Switzerland, Finland and through UNRRA. Britain is getting 781 millions pounds (not tons, mind you), netherlands 158 and UNRRA 148 as the largest foreign users.

Want Figures Changed

The confidential committee of the industry is trying to get these allocations changed. It is their claim that American business is suffering from these foreign allowances, which run much too high, and, in any event we should take care of ourselves first, and after scrimping as much as we can in consumption, ship only the excess abroad.

The government experts, nevertheless, tell me the average sugar consumer in this country will be forced to live on his present empty-hand-to-mouth basis until next March or April, when the new Cuban crop comes in. My own personal belief is the crisis will last much longer unless the allocations are revised, because this government has already made private commitments to foreign natons to deliver the same or similarly large portions of our sugar to them next year. The government experts also claim the shortages in the central portions of the country and large storing on the coasts are due to shortage of box cars—whereas the shipping costs I have already explained are sufficient to cause the condition.

Another allocation this government has made in its management of sugar, allows storage of 18 million pounds under a category described only as "reserved for military zones." This, the experts say, is a national defense move, the proportion of which can be measured when you consider that little Switzerlend, which made the oil deal with Russia, is to get 45 million pounds.

Agitation against all this frozen and unsatisfactory condition of sugar affairs is beginning. The U. S Chamber of Commerce is making a study which will be out shortly. Together with the industrial committee movement, it may bring some changes to remedy the condition somewhat.

However, the major answer to the question of where the sugar is, most assuredly must be that it is being shipped abroad.

You Now Can Make Your Own Mistakes

The Pennsylvania railroad has introduced a vending machine which sells tickets automatically.

Any day now, I expect to read of a bewildered stranger who tries for a piece of gum and ends up in Spearmint, Montana.

One trusts they have figured out a way to make the gadget accept folding money. By the time a citizen deposited enough nickels and dimes for a round-trip ticket to San Francisco, he could have walked.

The inventor is probably already working on a deluxe model . . . one which, for an extra coin, lights up and gives out with "Chattanooga Choo-choo."

Railroads are becoming more and more mechanized. About the only thing still done by hand is relieving passengers of their tips.

This latest development should have quite an appeal to hygienic-minded travelers who want their tickets untouched by human hand But it'll never fully replace the oldtime ticket-agent . . . not, that is, until it is able to inform the inquisitive as to whether the 5:15 is on time and point out the way to the ladies' room.

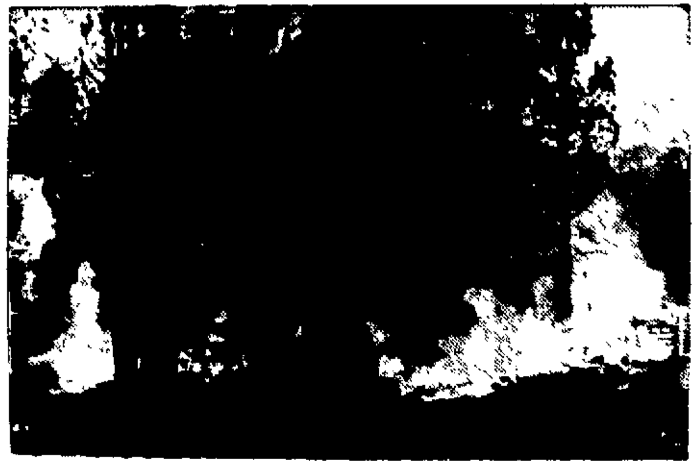
Fire Toll Setting New Record



TRAGEDY OF A HOME BURNED. Preventable fires like this destroy or damage 350,000 homes each year and wipe out enough timber in forest lands to build 200,000 new houses.

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — Every year, on the average, 10,000 persons are burned to death in the United States; 350,000 homes are destroyed or damaged; enough timber to build 200,000 five-room houses is wiped out in forest areas equal to the size of Kentucky—and the National Board of Fire Underwriters, in supplying these statistics, reports that this year is running far above those averages.

President Truman, proclaiming Fire Prevention Week beginning Oct. 6, declared that "fires this year threaten to exact the greatest toll of lives and the greatest waste of material resources that our nation has ever experienced."

Within seven months a total of $338,304,000 in fire losses was run up for 1946, the underwriters' organization announces, and on the basis of past experience that board foresees an all-time record of some $600,000,000 in prospect for the calendar year. The first seven months, alone, exceed the total for any entire peacetime year from 1933 to 1942.

Prevention Long Opposed

Yet, fire prevention has been one of the most difficult ideas to promote, and the story of its progress is a story of saving people from their own folly.

"Until recently, there was active opposition at the very mention of fire prevention," says W. E. Mallalieu, general manager of the underwriters' board. "Fire departments sometimes felt that any campaign for fire prevention would cost firemen their jobs. Business men thought it was a movement to save money for insurance companies.

"Although man has used fire and studied it since prehistoric times, his thought always had been directed toward controlling its spread once it had started. The concept of preventing fires in order to save life and property dates only from after the Civil War."

At that time, Mallalieu pointed out, the record showed fire losses to have been more than doubled in one year. They soared from $23,000,000 in 1864 to $49,000,000 in 1865, and "most of those fires were incendiary," he added.

One of the primary purposes in the formation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters in 1866 was to combat arson by offering rewards for the capture of incendiarists.

Inducements for Protection

Then fire insurance rate reductions were used as an inducement and reward for improved fire

Straws in The Wind

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Those experts whose hazardous duty it is to analyze Soviet foreign policy and to attempt to forecast its future course must often base their estimates on strange little straws in the wind. And in the whole episode of Stalin's statement to the British journalist, Alexander Werth, they have noted two such straws.

There is no competent official observer either in Washington or Moscow who has any doubt at all about the overall purpose of the Stalin statement. It was decided by the master of the Kremlin and his advisers that it would be all to the good, and could do no possible harm, to issue a statement in favor of peace, in much the same way that Calvin Coolidge's famous preacher came out flat-footed against sin. This would serve to fortify the world's Wallaces, and at the same time could include a warning to those who oppose further Soviet expansion. But in the Soviet press treatment of the Stalin statement there was also one significant detail.

A Couple of Straws

Among Werth's questions, there was one in which he asked whether he thought "early" withdrawal of American forces from China would contribute to peace. Stalin, to no one's surprise, replied that he thought that it would. Yet it is noteworthy that here the Russians, in publishing the questionnaire, made their only change in Werth's wording. Werth's "early" was changed to "most rapid" or "quickest possible." This is Straw one Together with much other evidence, it has led the experts to anticipate with considerable anxiety the next Russian move in the Far East.

Straw two concerned Stalin's peculiar use of two words, which have been translated as "agents" and "counter-agents" (of world reaction, stirring up war against the Soviet Union.) Werth himself, who was born in Russia, was unable to give any satisfactory explanation of this obscure wording. Attempts on the part of Western observers to discuss the meaning of any part of the statement with Russian officials were quickly and nervously brushed aside. This was because for some days no editorial comment on the statement was made in the Russian press, and the officials therefore did not know the correct line. The first hint of what Stalin meant in his strange references was contained in two public lectures delivered by Russian officials in Moscow a few days after the statement. In these lectures the "counter-agents" were identified as the Greeks and the Turks. Again the experts feel justified in expecting a very strong Soviet line in the Eastern Mediterranean.

The tone of the Soviet press as a whole is also considered significant evidence. The experts who study the Russian press note gloomily that the campaign against the west has rather increased in virulence than otherwise since the Stalin statement. Over half the space in the Soviet press, according to official estimates, is now devoted to foreign news. That part of this space which does not consist of outright attacks on British and American policy, is devoted to reporting which is, to say the least, tendentious. The coverage of the Wallace speech itself was a typical example of the new and enlightened Soviet journalism.

First, as is so often the case when the Russians are confronted with a wholly unexpected development, the speech was greeted by total silence for four days, while the Russian leaders argued out what line to take. (As usual, this threw the editors of the "Daily Worker" into a tizzy; the job of a "Daily Worker" editor must be a dizzying one.) Finally, the line was handed down, and throughout the Soviet Union the presses rolled out a summary, about a column and a half in length, of what Wallace had said, for the edification of the Soviet masses.

As far as the Soviet masses were concerned, however, the first quarter of the Wallace speech did not exist. It was in this part of the speech that Wallace recognized the necessity for American military preparations, called for American help in raising living standards in the depressed areas of the world, and cited his support for the British loan. For the Soviet readers, the speech started with Wallace's attack on Dewey's pro-British policy. And they read none of Wallace's remarks about his liking for the British people, about the way the Russian character was formed, or about the futility of the present British and Russian methods, and the necessity for both countries to take to heart the lessons of Roosevelt's good neighbor policy. Wallace's expressed anxiety that the Russians might be aiming at territorial expansion, using native Communists for this end, was glossed over. Most significant of all, there was one deliberate mistranslation. Wallace's statement that he wished the Russians to meet the Americans halfway was exactly reversed. It was made to read that he wished the Americans would meet the Russians half way.

The capitalist press is much bedevilled by many of those who greeted the Wallace speech with hosannas to the heavens. Yet certainly the capitalist press, whatever its sins, has rarely been guilty of such distortions and repressions as those briefly outlined above. Surely a study of the Russians press alone should give pause to those who feel, like Wallace, that loving kindness is an adequate substitute for firmness in dealing with the Soviet Union.

Daily Bible Thought

The great Nazarene did not come to earth to show off, but to show how, to demonstrate in detail just how and why to live the perfect life. He made it so utterly plain that the simple and unschooled have no difficulty at all in following the way. John 8:29: "And he that sent me is with me, he hath not left me alone; for I do always the things that are pleasing to Him."

What Price Auto Traffic?

AUTO traffic in the hearts of our big cities the country's number one headache. T motor car, designed to speed up business tying it up in knots.

The auto has not only come to stay, but showing a tendency to stay in one spot.

New York has just barred any and all parking in the business section. Other big cities ha taken similar action. But the little cities are bigger study in snafu than the big ones, an there will really be no answer until people driving their oversized covered wagons wholly unnecessary business.

Tens of thousands of American men ha only three excuses for coming to work by au (1) chronic laziness; (2) an aversion to do anything on foot; (3) a yen to argue over be fenders.

Citizen "A" tools his seven-passenger limousine smack into the city center to get a ciga Citizen "B" leaps into the super-eight to cor himself into the heart of things for no busines that couldn't be executed by postcard. Citize "C" uses a seven-passenger beach wagon zoom into heavy traffic so he can buy a poun of tomatoes and see how the ball game cam out in one stop.

Mrs Smith adds to the chaos by going for 10-cent box of aspirin in a car as long as yacht. Mrs Brown does her bit to ball things by using the family chariot to air the dog. M Jones drives through the main streets to ge dozen cupcakes because if she bought them her own neighborhood she would have to wa two blocks.

The presence of 90 per cent of the automobiles now seen in the city centers is just testimonial of man's talent for being ornery, cantankerous and afraid of corns.

There is no more excuse for most limousine in Main street than for elephants.

And if a man brought an elephant into t center of the city he wouldn't expect to lea it there.

There are so many cars parked in the street of most cities today that a man driving a machine through said streets has two strikes o him. Our civilization has borrowed the baseba slogan: "Nobody walks!"

Most of the buggies could be left home without inconveniencing anybody, or else parke outside the business belt, but the timid municipal authorities fiddle around with one-way street rules, half-hour parking regulations an other expedients which do nothing but add t the eyestrain and the genaral chaos.

Business is being stymied, normal routines o life are being put behind the eight ball an life within ten blocks of a city center is now a street scene from "Hell-za-poppin'."

Progress is wonderful But must it be linke up with a nervous breakdown, an afternoon in a squirrel cage and little snatches from Dante's Inferno, all executed in a smell of burnin brakes and sulphurous remarks?

Postmaster General Hannegan says the Democratic National Committee is 100 per cent behind President Truman in decision to do nothing about the meat shortage. Possibly, knowing that fish is easy to get, the slogan in this campaign is to be, "Let them eat cake!"

"I'm not hungry any more," said Elmer Twitchell today. "Whenever I crave meat I just take President Truman's explanation of the shortage, with mashed potato."

Watch That Bar!

By TRUMAN TWILL

The figure fiends have a perfect index to economic conditions under their twitching noses. But after a lifetime of looking for it they won't see it. Why?

Because they're looking for something tricky and intricate that will befuddle the people, and this is as simple as a schoolgirl's wink. If the figure fiends used anything the people could understand, they'd go out of business.

Tipping off the people to what's wrong with the country in a way that could be copied is as shortsighted as lawyers and doctors giving up those Latin phrases that keep the customers mystified.

But even if nothing come out of an index to economic conditions that's simple, it doesn't keep us from pointing it out as a public ser We refer, of course, to the nickel candy bar, which tells all. It expands and contracts in direct ratio to the way things are going

When things are going good and we are having the kind of inflation that makes government happy, the candy bar gets smaller and smaller, like the people's dollar. It gets so small it rattles in the wrapper. The wrappers, of course, stay the same, to conceal what has happened to the candy bars inside them.

When the bar rattles, that's good times! Oh joy. Bootleggers and black marketeers fill up the hotels in Miami. The joints and honky-tonks from coast to coast never close for redecorating. They are open 24 hours a day.

When a nickel candy bar can be eaten in one bite without discomfort, the Treasury Department is as happy as a harpy with a new mink coat. The money is rolling in. People are throwing it down the drain as if it were worth only the paper it is printed on.

But watch out when the nickel bar begins to swell. If you can't eat it in one bite, batten down the hatches and close the attic windows. It's coming on to blow. The livestock is going to stampede. There'll be another bluebird 'round that corner. Deflation is coming. The people are getting too much to eat again. It's time to call in the experts to keep the buying power of a dollar from giving the suckers an even break.

When the bar grows long, sell short. Keep your eye on Oh Henry and skip the bureau of labor statistics. There are sermons in stones and tomorrow's headlines in candy bars. They've just shrunk another shrink.

This is the beginning of a crisis. The bars now are so short in relation to the wrappers they can be put in crosswise. This is enough to start a panic. They may have to stuff the wrappers with excelsior to kid the people until this thing blows over.

Adjust the straps on your life preservers and pick your boats, mates. No panic, understand, just a routine precaution.

Fire Prevention Week

OCTOBER 6-12

STOP FIRES!

Fight FIRE as you would an invading enemy. For fire is a merciless killer and destroyer of homes and property, comparable to a weapon of war. America was spared the scourge of bombs and rockets, but in this year of peace our fire bill has been the greatest in history. Loss of life has been tremendous. Thousands of now irreplaceable homes have gone up in flames. The fire toll of business and industrial property has run into millions of dollars, not even counting production lost; or job opportunities destroyed. Nine out of ten fires are caused by carelessness—only one "just happens." Do your part to stop fires—don't let them start! Always obey these safety rules:

- Don't smoke in bed. Extinguish all cigarette butts carefully. Keep matches in a safe place.
- Burn trash only in approved incinerators. Don't leave bonfires unattended.
- Don't use inflammable cleaning fluids in unventilated rooms or anywhere near an open flame.
- Repair faulty wiring. If fuses blow out frequently, it is a danger signal—have your wiring checked.

20 INJURED IN RIOTS NEAR TRIESTE ZONE

By The Associated Press

GORIZIA, VENEZIE GIULIA, Oct. 7—Bitter Italian-Yugoslav diferences in this hotly disputed area were fanned today by an outbreak of violence in which 15 to 20 persons were injured yesterday during a demonstration of the pro-Yugoslav Italo-Slovene Anti-Fascist Union.

The trouble broke out when crowds shouting "Duce, Duce!" attempted to break up the demonstration, which had been authorized by the Allied military government as a "purely cultural" observance of the century-old Slovene tradition of celebrating the grape harvest.

Rocks, smokebombs and other missiles were hurled at the demonstrators in the worst display of violence in the Gorizia area since Aug. 9, when at least 30 persons were injured during a pro-Italian demonstration.

COURT

himself quickly and did not lose balance.

Jackson took the chair which was vacant for the last year while he acted as chief U. S prosecutor at the Nuernberg trial

At Vinson's right hand, in the chair of the senior court member, sat Justice Black, appearing on the bench for the first time since Jackson assailed him for "bullying" tactics in a public statement at Nuernberg. Black has not replied to Jackson's charges.

Black announced formally today the appointment of Vinson.

Vinson displayed his customary calm, easy-going manner in presiding at his first supreme court session.

He announced the death last August of James C. McReynolds, the retired supreme court justice. He paid tribute to McReynolds as "a vigorous, capable, determined and forthright member" of the court.

About 40 attorneys were admitted to practice, some of them introduced by Attorney General Clark. A few motions were received, and Vinson's work in the open court was done for the day.

During the admission of attorneys, Jackson chatted and whispered with Justices Burton and Douglas.

The entire session took only 21 minutes.

Vinson succeeded the late Harlan F. Stone, who collapsed during a court session last April, and died that night.

It was the first public appearance of Jackson and Black since their behind-the-scenes differences flared into the open last summer.

GI Pay Bonds Begin Final Trips in Mail

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Crisp new five-year treasury bonds headed for their final ride through government channels today, enroute to pay off some $2,700,000,000 in terminal leave claims for World War II veterans.

The bonds, for settling most claims totaling more than $50, are expected to be in the hands of all service finance and disbursing offices this week.

Pending receipt of the bonds, only small claims could be settled in cash. Army officials hope they will be able to pay claims within 60 days of the date of application.

An estimated 15,000,000 servicemen and women are eligible for the terminal leave payments voted by the 79th congress.

Church Moves Into Street in Quarrel with CPA Officials

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 7—The Rainbow Boulevard Church of Nazarene, at odds with the civilian production administration over construction of a new church, moved its Sunday worship services to the street.

The CPA last July denied a permit for building the new edifice because, it said, too much critical matrial would be used. The CPA said construction was started without the permit.

A second application for a permit was turned down in August and later the CPA obtained a temporary injunction restraining the congregation from using the unfinished building.

Rev. Frank E. Harris Sunday told his congregation, seated in rented chairs outside the partly completed church, that the CPA would not allow the use of the building unless agreement was made to refrain from installing certain equipment considered by CPA to be on the critical list.

"This, according to our attorney, would mean they could keep us from putting in lights, safe and proper heating equipment and the necessary facilities, which we feel would be a definite hinderance to God's work and would jeopardize the health of our children and people," he said.

"Therefore, we have no other place to worship except outside."

NAZI ADMIRAL ASKS DEATH BY SHOOTING

By The Associated Press

NUERNBERG, Oct. 7—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, builder of the German fleet and one of three men sentenced to life imprisonment by the international military tribunal, has appealed to the Allied control council to change his sentence to death by shooting.

Raeder said his petition did not mean that he was pleading guilty as indicted but was prompted by his advanced age of 70 and the state of his health.

He told the control council:

"The resistance of my body is very low and the imprisonment would not last very long."

Raeder, who was convicted on three counts of the indictment—common plan or conspiracy, crimes against peace and war crimes—said the verdict was the result of "a mistake in the way the prosecution handled the Norwegian case."

This mistake, he said, was due to political interests.

Steel Production Near Peacetime Peak Level

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7—Despite current handicaps, steel operations "are hovering about a peacetime peak, still not as high as they could go, and it is possible they may at least be maintained," said Steel magazine today.

In enumerating the handicaps, the publication said "shortages of scrap, pig iron and coke remained a threat to high production, with manpower difficulties outside as well as inside the steel industry leaving their mark."

Although "decontrol of steel prices is reported under consideration by OPA," Steel said "there is little likelihood of decontrol being effected soon on such tight supply items as sheets and strip."

CALL ICELAND BASES ADEQUATE FOR U. S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7—Officials expressed belief today that this country's main strategic interests will be served by the limited air base agreement won from Iceland, despite Communist-led insistence that American military personnel must go.

Diplomatic authorities were not too pleased with what they consider at least a partial triumph for Soviet foreign policy working through international Communism.

But they were quick to point out the example which the outcome of the Washington-Reykjavik negotiations could set for the approaching showdown between Russia and Turkey over the Dardanelles.

The United States has never made any secret of its hope for some type of military base on Iceland's war-developed Keflafik airport.

However, in an internal political fight that raged for months, Icelandic Communists spearheaded the opposition to any such arrangement and found wide support for their views among the traditionally pacifist-minded population.

Thus when the struggle reached its climax Saturday, the Althing, Iceland's parliament, voted 32 to 19, in favor of an agreement that included these main terms:

All United States military personnel, remnants of the once-powerful forces which operated in the island during the war, must leave within six months.

Thereafter, only civilians may remain at Keflafik, although United States military planes as well as commercial craft may use the field.

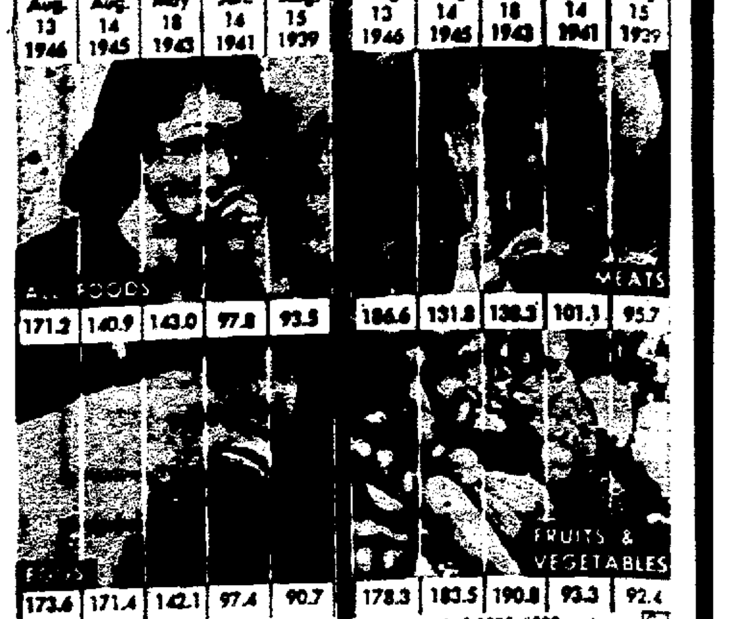
Brazil Counts Foreign Elements

By The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO—Based on a 1940 survey of 41,236,315 residents, Brazilian government figures just released show that 39,822,487 inhabitants were native-born, 122,735 were naturalized citizens, 1,283,833 were foreigners and 7,260 made no declaration. Foreign elements were 354,311 Portuguese; 285,029 Italians; 147,897 Spaniards; 142,693 Japanese; 88,939 Germans and 45,786 Syrians.



FOOD COSTS HIT 7-YEAR HIGH — Spanning a seven-year period, beginning just before the European war in August, 1939, and ending Aug. 13, 1946, the above chart shows how foodstuffs have soared in the U. S. In 1941 the "Little Steel" wage formula became effective as a "cost of living basis." On April 18, 1943, the president's "hold-the-line" order was issued, and the peak of that period was reached in May. Sept. 2, 1945, was V-J Day and the price rise was causing much concern. The final 1946 figures, most recent to come from the U. S. Labor Department, show how far costs have risen.

LOLOS LIMIT PLANE SEARCHERS TO TWO

By The Associated Press

CHUNGKING, Oct. 7—A friendly Lolo tribesman and a Chinese general's aide—the only two permitted by hostile natives to pass—were searching the wilds of western China today for an American pilot and 31 other persons reported held by Lolos since their Chinese airliner crashed Sept. 20.

Rifle fire drove off one search plane carrying a professional parachutist. He had hpoed to locate the wreckage and jump in an effort to aid the crash victims—who reportedly had kept Lolos at bay, for a time, with available sidearms.

The airliner crashed 60 miles south of Sichang, in the same general area in which the U. S. Army Graves Registration Service is making its own quiet search for five U. S. Air Forces crewmen believed captives of the Lolos for more than two years.

The airliner pilot, Capt. Andrew Lungbotham of Pasadena, Calif., was the only American reported aboard the Chinese National Aviation Corporation plane.

First reports of the crash location were received Sept. 28. Gen. Ho Kow-kwang, Chinese army commandant at Sichang, sent a 17-man relief expedition into the rugged area near the north Burma border, but the Lolos would allow only a Lolo guide and the general's aide to pass. General Ho telegraphed Chungking yesterday that the downed plane still had not been found.

A Lolo family near a village called Ahbulluluboo had taken charge of the passengers, all of whom reportedly had survived the crash without serious injury, the general reported. The family, he added, had "tried their best to protect them."

Capt. Robert W. Pottschmidt, Wenatchee, Wash., who has made several fruitless search flights over the area, said his plane had been hit by rifle fire from the ground.

Nazi Verdict Termed "Horrible but Just"

By The Associated Press

GAMBIER, O., Oct. 7 — The Right Rev. Philip Carrington, archbishop of Quebec, expressed the opinion Sunday night the war criminals trials decision at Nuernberg was "a horrible action, but necessary and a just action."

He spoke at religious services conducted in Kenyon college's Episcopal chapel for delegates to the conference on the heritage of the English-speaking peoples and their responsibility.

In an interview later, the archbishop said he spoke only for himself and his remarks were not the result of a conference address Saturday by Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, who asserted the hanging of the 11 Nazis sentenced by the international court would be "a blot on the American record we shall long regret."

Robert Frost, the poet, supported Taft's views in remarks prefacing the reading of some of his poems Saturday night.

Churchill Sees British Empire Shrinking Away

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

That was an amazing speech which former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill delivered at the week-end when, as leader of England's Conservative party, he painted a gloomy picture of a shrinking British empire.

Churchill was bidding for a continuation of his leadership at a party conference (a leadership which was confirmed with deep-throated cheers), and he was charging the present Socialist government with making grievious mistakes to the detriment of the empire. Still, it must have been hard for him—the quintessence of British imperialism—to make these admissions.

DewittMackenzie

The famous wartime premier attacked the Socialist government especially on two lines—Palestine and India. He charged that the government was "vascillating without plan or policy" for the Holy Land and was "holding on to a mandate in which they have no vital interest." He declared such a course was gaining the distrust and hostility both of Arab and Jew."

It was regarding mighty India, however, that which he really let himself go. He accused the Attlee government of so mishandling the situation that "no one can measure the misery and bloodshed which will overtake these enormous masses of humble, helpless millions, or under what new power their future destiny will lie" (this last was a reference to Russia).

Empire Population Shrinks

Churchill said that with the loss of India — and perhaps Burma — "the number of the king's subjects is being reduced to barely a quarter of what it has been for generations." And at the same time Russia has "brought extra scores of millions of people" under the "despotic control of the Kremlin" and continues to expand in every direction.

Well, now, what about this empire which "is being reduced" so sharply—the empire upon which the sun never sets? Whitaker's Almanack (published in London) says:

"The British empire occupies over one-quarter of the known surface of the globe, and its population exceeds one-quarter of the estimated number of the human race." Most of those millions are in India.

Of course Mother England herself made a major imperial change when she conceded the sovereignty of the great dominions—Canada, Australia, New Zealand the the Union of South Africa—which became members of the "British Commonwealth of Nations." Now the Socialist government in London has offered India this same dominion status, with the same privilege of withdrawing from the commonwealth if she so desires.

The fate of 400,000,000 Indians is involved. If Britain should lose this great sub-continent, the king-emperor would indeed have lost some three quarters of his subjects, as Churchill points out.

Government Established

A provisional government has been established in New Delhi to try to work out a constitution for this new freedom. At the head of that government is Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the famous Hindu leader who, next to Mahatma Gandhi, is the most powerful individual in all India.

The Pandit is an internationalist and a Socialist. He has said that "the only solution for India is Socialism in a scientific and economic sense, involving vast revolutionary changes in the political and economic structures, ending vested interests in land and industry."

Recently Nehru stated that he was promoting an inter-Asian relations conference which when finally organided should unite the east culturally, economically and politically in a powerful bloc. He declared India should develop closer relations with Russia and expressed the hope that the Russians would participate in the inter-Asian bloc. It should be added that he has condemned distatorships and has expressed disapproval of many Soviet politices.

Still, since all the signs are that Russia is going to wield vast influence in the Orient, we can see what Churchill has in mind. Also one might make the observation that if India's interests seems to her to lie with England, then Hindustan will remain within the Commonwealth. If she thinks she belongs exclusively in an Asiatic bloc—not unlikely dominated by Soviet Russia—then the British empire will be the loser.

FIRE

protection. This was tried for the first time in 1872 when Rochester, N. Y., completed a new water works and won an abatement of a 20 per cent rate advance.

Building code reforms became the next objective. Three years after Chicago was destroyed, inspectors for the underwriters found that the city had been rebuilt "as inflammable as before." Their report said: "It would appear that buildings can be erected in any way or style that suits convenience .... No effort is being made to enforce the law." They declared the fire department dominated by politics.

The result was a boycott of Chicago by the fire insurance companies in September 1874. Within two months reforms were achieved by Chicago business men's committees and insurance was restored.

San Francisco Was Warned

The Baltimore fire of 1904 brought about engineering surveys of all cities over 25,000 in population. Among the first 55 cities surveyed was San Francisco, and the underwriters' engineers reported in October 1905 that hazards were so great that "San Francisco has violated all underwriting traditions by not burning up."

Six months later San Francisco ceased to violate these traditions. Its burning cost the fire insurance companies all their underwriting profits from 1860 to 1906, and nearly $80,000,000 more. About 20 companies failed, although many soon resumed business. Claims paid totalled $220,000,000.

Gradual Progress Made

The idea of preventing such disasters gained headway slowly. In June 1911 an obscure delegate at a convention of fire marshals in Chicago suggested that October 9, the anniversary of the Chicago fire, be set aside as Fire Prevention Day. Governors of all states were appealed to and by 1912, Fire Prevention Day was proclaimed by 22 of them.

The first national Fire Prevention Day was proclaimed by President Wilson in 1920, and he was joined by the governor general of Canada. President Harding made the observance a national Fire Prevention Week in 1922. Since then each President in turn has issued a Fire Prevention Week proclamation annually, as has the governor general of Canada.

"The attitudes of fire departments and the public have changed markedly since the 19th century's antipathy toward fire prevention," Mallalieu concluded. "No longer is the idea considered of selfish interest to a few corporations. It is recognized that every fire means a permanent and absolute loss of national capital, fire losses being borne in reality by the community with insurance companies merely the medium by which the loss is distributed."

ST. MARY IRISH TOPPLED BY TIFFIN CALVERT 19 TO 7

Too Much Kistler Brings First Defeat To Local Grid Warriors

By GEORGE BOEST

Blasting the theory that football players have to be huge to be good 135-pound Gene Kistler exhibited his running prowess before 2,500 spectators at Harding stadium Saturday night, sparking Tiffin Calvert to a 19 to 7 win over St. Mary.

Mighty, like an atom, lefthalf Kistler scored two of the Calvert touchdowns, one on a 43-yard run and the other from the Irish four. He also sped 57 yards to cross the Irish goal but a clipping penalty on the Tiffin 45 nullified that run.

Righthalf Harvey Distel who would be outstanding in any backfield accounted for Tiffin's first score. After making a runback of 15 yards of the opening kickoff St. Mary righthalf Stuber fumbled on his own 30 and Tiffin recovered. Kistler, Stevenson, Distel and an off-sides penalty put the ball on the Irish two, Distel going around right end to score. Charles Culichia accounted for the extra points in the second quarter.

Brilliant Irish Run

St. Mary's tally was set up by a brilliant 30-yard run by Schuler to the 14 from where Tiffin was penalized to the one yard line. Baldauf was six inches short of the stripe and Anderson dented the Tiffin stone wall for the score. Dick Werley kicked the point.

Distel kicked to Stuber who ran 15 yards before fumbling on the 30. Distel gained two. Kistler made 15, Stevenson and Distel got to the seven and an offsides penalty put the Tiffin club on the two. Distel scored. Distel's attempted placement was blocked.

Distel kicked to Stuber on the Marion 27 for a runback to the Marion 46. St. Mary got to the Tiffin 25 where Tiffin took over by recovering a fumble.

St. Mary again regained possesion of the ball when Baldauf recovered a fumble on the Calvert 41. The Irish gained to the Tiffin 30 where Tiffin got the ball on downs. Offsides was called on Tiffin making it first and 15. Offsides against St. Mary made it first and 10. Kistler made two. Distel made gains of four and five yards for a first down. Stevenson made three. Kistler went 28 yards to the Irish 30. Distel went to the 15 as the quarter ended.

Tiffin got a first down on the Irish four. Kistler crossbucked for the score. Culichia converted.

Huber ran back Distel's kick eight yards to the Marion 38. Schuler was hurt after picking up nine yards. Wagner replaced him. Baldauf went to the midfield stripe for a first down. St. Mary was forced to kick from the Calvert 45. Kistler ran back the kick seven yards to the 17. Kistler and Distel made four each. Kistler fumbled and St. Mary got the ball on the Tiffin 26. Schuler's pass was intercepted on the one yard marker. Distel got to the 15 for a first down. Distel and Kistler lost to the 10. A pass from Lucius was intercepted by Anderson on the Tiffin 25 and advanced to the 21. Tiffin got the ball after the Irish got no where. Making only seven yards in three attempts Tiffin punted. Anderson ran back Distel's kick seven yards being stopped on his own 46 as the half ended.

Distel kicked to Anderson on the 24 and he got to the 41 before being stopped. In two plays St. Mary lost 12 and Schuler attempted a quick kick which was blocked Tiffin recovering and getting the pigskin on the Irish 43.

Kistler Scores

Kistler on a cross buck raced through the Marion defense and went into the end zone standing up. Culichia's kick was blocked. Burke ran back Distel's kick nine yards to the Marion 30. An offside penalty against Calvert made it first and five. Armbruster lost four. The Irish were forced to punt from their own thirty-four. Kistler received making two yards to his own 47. Tiffin had penetrated to the Irish seven, where St. Mary regained possession of the ball. Steuver made ten. Behm intercepted Schuler's pass on the Marion twenty seven. Holding penalty made it first and twenty five on the Marion 39.

Stuber intercepted Distel's pass on the 20 going 11 yards before being stopped. The Irish got to the Tiffin 44 and a first down on a pass Stuber to Schuler. Schuler went to the 14. A penalty for roughness put the ball within one yard of the Calvert goal and in two tries St. Mary scored, Anderson accounting for the six pointer. Werley converted.

Werley Kicks Off

Werley kicked off to Burkhart but an offsides penalty was called on Tiffin. Kistler ran the second kickoff from his own ten to the 26. Tiffin had advanced to the 40 at the end of the third quarter.

Guss punted 25 yards to Armbruster. St. Mary lost 6 in three plays. A 15 yard penalty gave the Irish a first down. A penalty put the Irish back on their 29. Stuber's pass was intercepted by Rohrback and run 15 yards to the Marion 35.

Guss kicked from the Marion 41 to Burke who was downed on his own 14. The Irish gained to the 46. Distel intercepted a pass from Schuler and ran seven to his own 43. Kistler made 57 yards to score but a clipping penalty put Calvert back on their 30. The game ended with Tiffin at midfield.

The Tiffin high school band was on hand for the game.

York's Home Run Revives Talk of Four-Game Sweep

STOPPING BROWNS IMPORTANT ISSUE

All-American Loop Sees Runaway by Cleveland Gridders.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7—"Who's going to beat the Cleveland Browns?" remained the question before the All America Conference today as Coach Paul Brown's undefeated, untied aggregation rode the crest of a five-game winning streak.

Brooklyn's Dodgers became the latest victim of the Browns' juggernaut yesterday, absorbing a 26 to 7 thumping before 43,723 customers in Cleveland Stadium.

The way the Browns have mowed down their first five opponents has prompted some alarmists to contend that the new conference can not survive a first year runaway by the Browns.

Brown doesn't entertain such notions.

Brown Scoffs

"What do they want us to do, lie down and let the other guys run over us?" he demands. "I don't believe the league is as unbalanced as some people believe, but if there are a few clubs that haven't measured up to league standards, that becomes a problem which requires only time to remedy."

Two backs who formerly played with the champion Cleveland (now Los Angeles) Rams of the National Football league snared all three Brownie touchdowns, Don Greenwood getting two and Tomy Coleila the other.

Lou (The Toe) Groza, the Browns' place-kicking artist, added to his conference scoring lead by booting a 15-yard field goal and kicking all three points after touchdown. The former Ohio State freshman now has a 38-point total and has kicked 18 successive points after touchdown.

Fumble Costly

The Browns snared their other two points when Brooklyn's Glenn Dobbs fumbled deep in his own territory and was nailed by two Cleveland linemen in his own end zone for a safety.

The Dodgers' only tally came in the third period when Tackle Martin Ruby recovered Cliff Lewis' fumble on the Cleveland six. Lewis Mayne skirted right end for four yards and the touchdown on fourth down.

In All-America conference games Saturday night, Orban (Spec) Sanders, leading the conference in total offense, sparked the New York Yankees to a 21-13 triumph over the Buffalo Bisons at Buffalo and the Los Angeles Dons made a second half comeback to beat the Rockets at Chicago, 21-9.

Tonight the San Francisco 49'ers meet the Miami Seahawks at Miami.

Ohio Gridiron Circles Boast One of Nation's Best Place-Kickers

BY DON STULL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ohio collegiate gridiron circles today boasted one of the nation's best place-kicking specialists.

He's Tom Cole of Lakewood, O., who has booted an even dozen extra points through the uprights without a miss for Miami's Redskins this season.

Cole, a freshman, scored his first conversion against Purdue's Big Nine aggregation when the Redskins nearly upset the Boilermakers but bowed 13-7 in a season opener. He added six out of six as Miami swamped the Memphis Air Transport Command Rockets, 42 to 0, and made it an even dozen over the weekend as Coach Sid Gillman's Redskins trounced Dayton, 35 to 0, for the Flyers' first defeat in two starts.

Dayton was one of nine Buckeye collegiate elevens dumped out of the unbeaten, untied class over the weekend, leaving only eight Ohio teams in that select list with the season barely underway.

Survivors Few

Surviving the third weekend of warfare with victory runs still unmarred were Wilberforce with three in a row; Baldwin-Wallace, Kent State, Ohio U., Muskingum and Mount Union with two triumps apiece, and Defiance and Bluffton, who opened Saturday and got off on the right foot.

Oberlin, undefeated in eight games last year, and Kenyon, too, have yet to be beaten or tied, but they don't open their seasons until this weekend.

Although the state came through the week's 24-game program with only eight "perfect" teams, Buckeye grid prestige climbed back toward the top in the national picture as nine Ohio elevens copped victories from out-of-state foes and dropped four games to outsiders. That gave the commonwealth's grid teams an edge of 18 victories to 11 defeats with foreign foes.

Heading the Buckeye bid for national recognition Saturday were Ohio State's Bucks, coming back after a 13-13 tie with Missouri to outclass the University of Southern California Trojans, 21 to 0, at Los Angeles.

Whisler Paces Bucks

Paced by fullback Joe Whisler of Willard, O., who plunged across for all three Ohio State touchdowns, the Bucks hardly gave the favored Trojans an opportunity to play, outgaining them from scrimmage 265 to 104 yards and chalking up 12 to their eight first downs.

Aiding the recognition bid too were Wilberforce which journeyed to Tallahassee to polish off Florida A. and M., 22-14; Bowling Green with a 13-0 triumph over Ball State of Indiana; Cedarville's 14-6 victory over Canterbury at Danville, Ind.—the Cedar's first win since returning to the game after a 14-year absence; Defiance's 7-0 opening success against Manchester, also of Indiana; Cincinnati's 39-14 rout of Marshall's Thundering Herd; Mt. Union's 20-6 win from Bethany, W. Va.; Ohio U's 25-7 conquest of Western Michigan at Kalamazoo, and Rio Grande's surprise thumping of Rose Poly Institute, another Indiana eleven.

Dulling the picture a little, however, was Xavier's humiliating defeat—70 to 0—at the hands of the Kentucky Wildcats who cooled off the Cincy Bearcats the week before. Ohio Wesleyan fell out of the unbeaten ranks, too, bested by Wayne, 13 to 0, and Wittenberg dropped a Friday opener to the University of Louisville in Kentucky, 9 to 0.

At home, Muskingum's Muskies bagged their second straight Ohio conference win, blanking Heidelberg, 15 to 0, to take over the loop lead. Also in the conference Saturday, Otterbein edged Denison, 18-13, on a final period drive; once-tied Toledo bumped Case easily, 42 to 14; Findlay marred Wooster's opening, 27 to 6, and Marietta handed Capital defeat No. 2 by a score of 12 to 0.

In a non-conference game, Baldwin-Wallace's Yellow Jackets made it five in a row over Akron, handing the Zippers a 32-0 shellacking. End Herb Thomas and Halfback Bob Becker paced the Jackets with a pair of touchdowns each.

USC MAY ABANDON T AFTER OSU BEATING

UCLA Ready to Step in with That Formation.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7—The T party may be over for the Southern California Trojans, but the same blend — plus the magic elixir, speed—could boil into a championship brew at UCLA.

The Monday morning stove session seethed with reports that Trojan Coach Jekk Cravath, following USC's 21-0 shellacking by Ohio State Saturday, might abandon the T formation which brough his teams three straight Rose Bowl trips.

But the Bruins of UCLA, who utilized the same style of attack with fleet finesse in overwhelming Washington, 39-13, were en route home from Seattle with attar of roses in their nostrils.

Coupled with their opening 50-7 win over Oregon State, Saturday's smasher stamped the Bruins, originally tabed as runners-up to the Trojans, as the probable powerhouse of the conference. They're big, and—most important in the T—fast.

Of the Ohio State game, the best that local experts could say for the Trojans was they're big.

The Buckeyes were just about as big, but like the Bruins they could move. The quick, low-charging line play of All-America Warren Amling at tackle, end Jim Crane and center Tony Adamle kept the Trojans off balance, offensively and defensively, throughout.

The Trojans, potentially a ground - devouring juggernaut, never were able to spring loose their hard-running backs. Ted Tannehill and Gordon Gray, and none of three quarterbacks, Mickey McCardle included, impressed observers with dexterity, so necessary to successful T operation.

Ohio State's one-two punch of Tommy James' sprinting and Joe Whisler's plunging was too much for sagging Trojan morale. Whisler made all three touchdowns on short bucks, which James' alert all-around play helped set up.

A crowd of 80,043, largest of the day throughout the nation, watched the Bucks take a 3-2 lead in the intersectional series. The victory gave the Western Conference a 13-11 edge over the coast circuit in their 25-year grid rivalry.

NEW YORKER WINS MIDGET AUTO RACES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7 — Husky Ernie Gessel of Hollis, N. Y., who pocketed $3,000 in prize money, wore the 100-mile midget auto racing crown today.

The 31-year-old former Marine pushed his 100-horsepower speedster around the Bainbridge track yesterday at an average slightly in excess of 80 miles an hour to take the national championship before 9,090 spectators.

Gessel was the only driver in the starting field of 30 who completed the grind without stopping for repairs. Nineteen cars finished.

He took the lead on the 45th lap when Al Bonnell of Erie, Pa., stopped for a tire change, and fought off a determined bid by the Pennsylvanian to overhaul him in the closing stages.

Clarence LaRue of Akron forged to the front at the start of the grind and led the field until forced to the sidelines by motor trouble after 16 laps.

Bonnell came in second and won $1,700.

Red Sox Think Power May Give Them Edge To Turn That Trick

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7—One explosive home run blast off the bat of "the new" Rudy York has revived Boston talk of a four-straight sweep over the crafty St. Louis Cardinals in the 1946 World Series.

Not that Joe Cronin's Sox looked like a runaway fire engine in easing out a 3-2 edge over Howie Pollet in a tough 10-inning struggle yesterday. The opener was a ball game the Cardinals easily could have won but the last numbers on the scoreboard prove they didn't.

Just like the New York Yankees in days of old, the Sox might have been outplayed around the infield and might have taken second place in pitching. But when the final returns were in, that one deadly smash into the bleachers made up for everything.

One Strike Away

Pollet, pitching one of his best games of the year and outshining Tex Hughson despite an aching side, had come from behind and held a 2-1 lead, one strike away from that coveted first World Series win.

Then it happened. Tom McBride who had been unable to knock the ball out of the infield all during the long afternoon bounced a single between third and short, scoring Don Gutteridge with the tying run. Gutteridge was running for Pinky Higgins whose easy grounder had squirted crazily through Marty Marion's legs for a single.

Earl Johnson, a Battle of the Bulge veteran, set down the Redbirds in order in the ninth and Pollet got past Dom DiMaggio and the much-feared Ted Williams in the tenth.

Two were gone and nobody on when York, enjoying a remarkable comeback, ruined a courageous pitching job by the Cards' 21-game winning ace with a 375-foot home run smash into the last row of the left field bleacher seats.

That was the ball game, for Johnson survived an error by Johnny Pesky to put down the Cards with the tying run on third base in the last of the tenth.

Harry (The Cat) Brecheen is Dyer's choice to face Boston, a dependable hard-working left-hander with a good fast ball, sharp-breaking curve and a dominating will to win. Brecheen who won many of the club's "big" games down the stretch and saved the final playoff game in Brooklyn with a brilliant relief job, has won 15 and lost 15 for the National league champs.

Joe Cronin is also taking advantage of his one southpaw starter to spike the Cards' left-handed power in Sportsmans park with its short right field wall. Mickey Harris, a native New Yorker who won 17 and lost nine for the Sox in the regular season, gets the call.

Harris has not been as effective as Hughson or Dave Ferriss, who is being saved for Wednesday's home opener at Fenway Park, but if Cronin gets away with a win from Harris, the Sox will be ready to cancel any plans for returning to St. Louis.

Longest Orange Bowl run was Camp Wilson's 92-yard kickoff return against Georgia Tech in the 1945 game.

Manchester and Portland once played six games on the final day of the New England League race to decide the pennant.

They've been most patient about waiting for the tire that
OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES
The better the tire, the faster it sells... and we've never seen a tire sell as fast as the new postwar B. F. Goodrich Silvertown that outwears and outlasts tires of prewar construction. That's why, in the face of outstanding production, we've had to ask so many of our customers to wait just a little longer for this tire.
It's Extra Safety that caused the Extra Demand for
B. F. GOODRICH SILVERTOWNS
Extra safety is an engineered factor in the new B. F. Goodrich tires . . . extra safety and greater resistance to "road shock" from the 35% stronger body with more cords and an entirely new and stronger cord . . . extra safety and greater protection against skidding from the wider, flatter surface that spreads the wear more evenly, gives you many more miles of service than prewar passenger car tires.

Close Victories Feature YMCA Grid League As 12 Teams Play

teams in the Y. M. C. A. football league were active afternoon. Great en- was shown for the pro- or more boys showing up squad.

A number of Harding football players were present for the contests as coach and referee. The ones present were Huddle, Ritchie, Andrews, Johnson, C. Smith, and Mathias.

St. Mary defeated Glenwood 2 to 0 scoring a safety in the last seconds of the game.

A yard-run by Pearl Street quarterback Tom Spearos in the first quarter gave Pearl a 6 to 0 victory over Greenwood.

Bill Winters scored on long runs in the first and second quarters for George Washington and Fred Ulsh caught a Forest Lawn punter back of his own goal line for a safety. George Washington was victorious 14 to 0.

Carl DeLong scored a touchdown for North Main in the first quarter as North Main won over Oak Street 6 to 0. Oak threatened several times in the contest and North Main was on the Oak five yard line when the game ended.

Silver Street outweighed and outplayed Oakland 21 to 0. Clemons, Silver back, scored all the points.

In a close contest Olney downed Mark 6 to 0. More penalties were called in this contest than any of the others.

A number of fans including some adults were present at each contest.

Next week's schedule: West league: Glenwood vs North Main at Lincoln; Oak vs. Oakland at Marion Metal; Silver vs St. Mary at Marion Power Shovel field.

In the East league: Forest Lawn vs Greenwood at Garfield; George Washington vs Olney at McKinley; Pearl vs Mark at Central field.

VERNON-EDISON GRID GAMES SET TONIGHT

Two games will be played under the lights tonight in the junior high school league. There will be a varsity and reserve contest between Edison and Vernon.

Last week both Edison teams were defeated by more experienced Central teams. The Vernon teams will be making their first stand of the current season. The games last Monday rivaled high school contests in the number of thrills produced although naturally the younger boys did not show the finesse that is expected of high school players.

This is part of a new endeavor to make the junior high school athletic program financially self supporting.

Mr. Orcutt, chairman of the junior high school athletic program, is hoping for an attendance of 2,000 at the games.

About Long Distance Funeral Service...

Within the next few weeks, many people from Marion and vicinity will be leaving for southern and western winter resorts. Here is a bit of information that should be taken along.

Should the need for funeral service arise at some point far from home, you can save much worry and inconvenience—often a considerable amount of expense—by calling your home funeral director and placing all arrangements in his hands. PRO GRIDDERS REVISE GATE ESTIMATES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 — Although baseball is overlapping into the football season a little more than usual and there are two major professional circuits instead of one, the National Football league appeared today to be heading for a revision in its attendance records.

A total of 167,666 customers—third largest one-day attendance in the history of the senior loop—turned out yesterday as the league's ten teams appeared on the same afternoon for the first time this year.

The only higher attendance figures were 175,538 and 169,183, both recorded last year.

The New York Giants, Philadelphia Eagles and Chicago Bears, only unbeaten and untied teams in the league, chalked up their second victories of the campaign yesterday, while the defending champion Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins, eastern division winners in 1945, found their way to the win column for the first time.

Los Angeles beat the Green Bay Jackers 21-17, with a touchdown in the last six seconds. The Bears tripped the Cardinals 34-17, with three touchdowns in the last period. The Giants topped the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17-14, on Ken Strong's field goal. The Redskins nosed out Detroit 17-16, although the Lions rallied for nine points in the last quarter. And the Eagles overpowered the Boston Yanks 49-25 in the only game that didn't provide a thrilling finish.

The Bears, behind by ten points at two stages in their contest, came through in the final period with Sid Luckman tossing two passes for touchdowns and setting up a third.

Football's Big 3 Face Rough Afternoon in Saturday's Tilts

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Texas, Notre Dame and Army—the big three of college football at this stage of the campaign—face a busy afternoon next Saturday, with the crippled Cadets taking on the toughest chore of the trio.

After hurdling Villanova, Oklahoma and Cornell with various degrees of success, Army now runs smack into a powerful Michigan crew also shooting for a place among the nation's leaders.

The Cadets, playing without the injured Doc Blanchard for the second straight week, rolled over Cornell 46-21 Saturday while Michigan stopped Iowa 14-7 for its second Western Conference success.

Texas meets Oklahoma in their annual state fair classic at Dallas. As the Sooners were squeaking past Texas A. and M. 10-7 last week, the Longhorns crushed Oklahoma A. and M. 54-6, handing the Aggies their first defeat in three games, Texas looks like the No. 1 power of them all.

Notre Dame Meets Purdue

Notre Dame, which breezed past Pittsburgh 33-0, will be at home to take on Purdue, which absorbed a 43-7 beating by an Illinois team that lost to the Irish by 20 points the previous week.

The Army-Michigan scuffle at Ann Arbor, expected to draw 90,000, obviously will be the top attraction of the day.

Western Conference tussels will send Illinois to Indiana, 21-0 conqueror of Minnesota, Ohio State to Wisconsin and Minnesota to Northwestern. Ohio State won its intersectional duel with Southern California 21-0 Saturday, while Northwestern downed Wisconsin 28-0.

Big Six games will find Missouri at Kansas State and Kansas at Iowa State, Nebraska has a non-conference date at Iowa and intersectional duels will take Mississippi State to Michigan State and Idaho to Marquette.

In the East, Columbia and Yale will get together at New Haven for a battle between two unbeaten clubs, and Dartmouth, fresh from a 21-14 triumph over Syracuse, moves in against powerful Pennsylvania, which smothered LaFayette 66-0. Columbia turned back Navy 23-14, and Yale topped Colgate 27-6.

Duke at Navy

Duke, whipped 12-7 by Tennessee, will be at Navy, with both trying to bounce back. Other eastern headliners will find Penn State at Syracuse, Temple at Pittsburgh, Villanova at Holy Cross, Rutgers at NYU, Colgate at Cornell, Rhode Island at Brown and Harvard at Princeton.

Stout UCLA, which humbled Washington 39-13, will entertain Stanford, 33-7 winner over a good San Francisco club, in the Pacific Coast headliner. Southern Cal. invades Oregon State, and Washington will be at Washington State.

Southeastern conference struggles will send Florida to Vanderbilt, 7-0 conqueror of Mississippi, and Mississippi to Georgia Tech, 32-6 winner over VMI. Tulane, which whipped Florida 27-13, will entertain Rice, and Texas A. and M. will visit Louisiana State, 13-6 victor over Mississippi State, in non-conference games.

In the Southern conference, front-running North Carolina State, which topped Clemson 14-7, entertains Davidson, with Maryland going to North Carolina, Clemson to Wake Forest and Virginia Tech to William and Mary. Elsewhere in the south it will be VMI at Virginia, Baylor and Arkansas get together at Fayetteville in Saturday's only Southwest conference game.

$50,000 Racer Readied for Go at Speed Mark

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 7—Given good wind and weather, Ab Jenkins, holder of more land speed records than any other one man, will try to crack his previous marks Friday on the Bonneville salt flats in a new $50,000 racer.

The low slung, 550-horsepower mobil special, designed by Bud Winfield of La Canada, Calif., will arrive Wednesday at Wendover, Utah, about 80 miles west of here on the edge of the flats.

At dawn, when the salt crust is dryest, Jenkins will begin his trials on a circular course.

The former mayor of Salt Lake City said no attempt will be made to crack the 369 miles per hour mark set by Englishman John Cobb for the measured mile. The tests will be for longer distances, probably 50 miles up, he said.

Shortages To Dominate Fall Shopping of Average Citizens

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Shortages will continue to dominate fall shopping plans of the average American.

Industry and retail sources outlined this picture for consumers who still are trying to whittle down a long hard-to-get list in an effort to clothe their families:

Children's underwear and men's clothing vie for first place among current shortages.

Sleepers and children's undershirts are almost unobtainable. Infants' knitted wear of all types is scarce.

Men's shirts are in no better supply than they were six months ago, and the supply "will stay tight until the fabric situation eases," the National Association of Shirt and Pajama Manufacturers said.

Men's shorts are still hard to find, and pajama output is confined to "dribs and drabs" of the higher priced types.

Cotton knitted underwear producers are caught between their ceilings and higher yarn costs to the extent that the underwear institute said all types—particularly heavyweight underwear—would be scarce this fall and winter.

And with nylon hosiery lines just out of the way, allocations of nylon yarn to stocking manufacturers have been cut an estimated 10 to 15 per cent.

Men's worsted suits are not expected to catch up with the demand before fall of 1947 although inventories of tweeds and shetlands are beginning to be built up gradually.

Clothing manufacturers were not too concerned over the new order allowing service men to wear civilian clothes when off duty. However, the CPA estimated that it would increase by about 2,000,000 the number of men looking for suits.

Popular priced lingerie will become increasingly hard to buy from now until Christmas, the Council of Lingerie Associations and Manufacturers said. Low-priced underthings and the more expensive types are in better supply.

High quality women's ready to wear is not sufficient to meet the demand, but one retail buying representative said "there are plenty of shoddy dresses, coats and suits."

Shoes may become a problem, too. At present retail inventories are adequate, trade sources said, but whether they continued to be depends on the movement of hides to tanneries.

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? the Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes, came upon me to eat up my flesh, they stumbled and fell

3 Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear: though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident.

4 One thing have I desired of the Lord, that will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the Lord, and to enquire in his temple

BUYERS NIBBLE AT ASSORTED STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 7—Buyers nibbled at steels and assorted stocks in today's market although many leaders were neglected.

Dealings slackened after a fairly fast opening.

Timid bidding was credited by brokers to the idea of some customers that recently dwindling volumes might mean that liquidation had run its course and the list was in shape to resume the upswing.

Philip Morris jumped more than 2 points following a boost in cigaret prices but other tobacco issues were narrow.

Forward tendencies were shown by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Goodyear, International Harvester, Great Northern, Union Carbide, Air Reduction and Kennecott.

Laggards most of the time included Woolworth, Eastman Kodak, American Smelting, Anaconda, Southern Pacific, U. S. Gypsum and Dow Chemical.

New Trial Sought for Youth at Kenton

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 7—Motion for a new trial for Harry McKeever Jr., 23-year-old youth found guilty by a Hardin county jury last week of first degree manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of his father July 5, was filed in the Hardin county common pleas court today by Defense Counsel Roy Roof.

The motion lists 15 causes where it claims the court was in error in conducting the trial. Among the charges made by Attorney Roof is that the jury rendered its verdict through "passion and prejudice." He also maintains the verdict was not sustained by the evidence and was contrary to law.

Common Pleas Judge Arthur B. Tudor is expected to rule on the motion within the near future, according to court authorities. Meanwhile Young McKeever remains in the Hardin county jail.

TEACHER

from the school to the airport is a sprawling farmhouse, near which is an ancient surrey with a fringed top. The farm is typical of the island, which has no main street, no community, shopping center, no teacher or other city necessity.

Marooned in Winter

Until the advent of the island air service, residents who did not risk hazardous trips over winter ice were marooned from fall to spring. All supplies were brought in by boat during ice free months. High school age children were boarded in Put-In-Bay and on the mainland during school months. A resident teacher was provided for elementary students.

The air service changed all this. Supplies of all kinds from pianos and fish to grain, hay and meat now are flown in to the island the year round. High school students still attend schools on the mainland but commute to their homes on weekends. The dead are flown out and the newborn returned to the island. Physicians, when there is need, can be brought to the island as rapidly as to a city home.

Offered Services

Last year after the resident teacher became ill and the islanders found another could not be persuaded to take her place, because of the teacher shortage and semi-isolation of the place, Mrs. Hallock offered her services. A grey-haired, apple-cheeked woman of about 50, she was a teacher at Put-In-Bay from 1910 to 1912 until her marriage. After 1912 and up to the present time she has been serving as a substitute.

Because of duties in her home she has told the island school board headed by Simon Fox that she hopes other arrangements soon can be made.

Recently, A. O. [illegible], superintendent of Ottawa county schools, on a flying inspection visit to island schools spoke to parents of the North Bass children about the possibility of flying them to Put-In-Bay for lessons. During the trip he collected figures on transportation rates from Mr. [illegible] to include in a report to the Ottawa county school board.

MRS. SARAH WESTBROOK DIES AT MICHIGAN HOME

Union County Native Passes Away at 91.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Ellinwood and Mr. and Mrs. Truman G. Ellinwood have returned to their homes in Richwood after attending the funeral services last week in Central Lake, Mich., for Mrs. Sarah Ellinwood Westbrook, 91, who died Monday, Sept. 30. She was an aunt of the Messrs. Ellinwood. The death of Mrs. Westbrook occurred at the home of Mrs. Johanna Hodge in Central Lake with whom she had made her home for the last ten years.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Methodist church there by Rev. Ellinger. Burial was in the Central Lake cemetery.

Born Aug. 12, 1855 west of Richwood, she was a daughter of Jeremiah Ellinwood and Julie Adams Ellinwood, natives of New York. She was married Sept. 15, 1879 at Richwood to Sidney W. Lutherans To Ask Army Improve Moral Code

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7—A plea for Presidential action necessary to "bring moral conditions within the armed forces closer to the Christian moral standards" of the nation was expected to come before the 15th biennial convention of the United Lutheran church in America today.

A resolution to this effect was adopted by the church's New York synod last June.

Benevolence gifts to the church have increased from $1,[illegible] in 1945 to an anticipated [illegible] of $2,300,000 [illegible]

LA RUE HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES RESUMED

New Heating Plant To Be Completed Tomorrow.

Classes at LaRue High school, suspended last Tuesday by cold weather while a new boiler is being installed in the building, reopened today and school officials said they hope to have their new heating plant in operation by tomorrow.

Although the high school building still was without heat, temperatures ranged from 66 to 70 degrees in the classrooms and pupils were not uncomfortable, school officials said.

No classes had been held in the high school building since last Tuesday, although teachers reported and the LaRue football squad was given daily workouts. Classes in the grade building continued on schedule.

Installation of the new heating system follows passage Sept. 10 by voters of the LaRue school district of a $13,500 emergency bond issue for the new boiler and for other improvements to be made on both the grade and the high school building.

The new heating system will cost approximatelyy $8,000. Bonds will be issued for a maximum of six years and will add an additional .59 mills to the tax rates in excess of the 10 mill limitation.

Bucyrus Youth Hurt in Wagon-Car Mishap

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 7—James Neff, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Neff, is a patient in City hospital where he was taken Friday night for treatment of a fractured leg between the knee and hip. He suffered the injury while turning a wagon around on the highway to attach it to a car for an evening hayride party, when a car driven by Merrill Miller of route 4 struck the wagon. The tongue was forced against Neff's leg, causing the fracture.

DREAMBOAT

250 miles from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, O.

Other crewmen were Col. Beverly Warren of Omaha, a pilot; Maj. J. T. Brothers of Knoxville, Tenn., a navigator; Maj. J. R. Dale of Wise, Va., flight engineer; R. B. Snodgrass of Seattle, Wash., a Boeing engineer; Sgt. E. G. Vasse of Huntsville, Mo., a radio operator; Maj. J. R. Kerr of Arcadia, Calif., aircraft engineer, and Sgt. G. S. Fish of Appleton, Wis., engineer.

"Pacusan" spells out the initials of the Pacific Air Command, U. S. Army, plus "N" for euphony.

Col. Warren, the co-pilot who took the Dreamboat off the field at Honolulu Friday with a 29,500-pound overload using only 6,500 feet of a 12,500-foot runway, said the plane's engines were in good shape after the trip. A long flight, most of which is made at cruising speed is not hard on engines, he explained.

Findings of the Dreamboat crew suggest the possibility of commercial flights over the far north ultimately between such places as San Francisco and Moscow, New York and Tokyo, London and Honolulu.

Skillful Car Inspection
...Is Pocketbook Protection

Thorough car inspection is an important part of our expert lubrication service. Our men are trained to watch for causes of trouble. For instance, an acid eaten battery cable, detected and replaced, may save much inconvenience and possibly a towing bill. Tires, too, are often a clue to faulty alignment or wheel balance. Careful inspection is your best protection against troubles that grow more expensive. We invite you to drive in for a check-up.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

AS Sam Brixton's voice faded away into humiliated silence, my own spirits lifted as I realized that he had put a weapon into my hands which I could use to save him from himself.

I was sure that Katharine, inventing an "errand" to her own apartment really had gone to summon "Mr. K." with the fear upon her that Sam meant to repeat his attempt at self-destruction. But I was confident now that the FBI man would not be needed, and I leaned over the bed and put my hand compellingly upon that of the sick man.

Repeated Promise

"Sam, dear," I said, in muted tones that Dr Twitchell could not hear but into which I put emphasis, "you are mistaken It is in your power to grant me a great boon, and I am going to claim the fulfillment of the promise you made me so long ago, and repeated just now"

His eyes brightened as they leaped to mine. Then realization of my meaning came to him and tragedy crept back into them

"I know what you mean," he said dully.

Then his voice sharpened.

"Don't ask me that, Madge. I beg of you, for I cannot in honor deny you. But you are not being fair to me. You can't know—"

"I can make a very good guess" I told him. "And I can tell you that your only hope of avoiding the thing you fear so much is in granting this request I am asking of you"

Hope of Escaping

I wondered if I were justified in holding out to him any hope of escaping the punishment which I was afraid my father might find it his duty to mete out to him. But I had no choice. At any cost, he must be prevented from accomplishing the thing he had in mind, and I made my voice inexorable as I went on.

"There is no other way," I said "You gave me that promise long ago, pledging your honor to it. I am claiming it now I want your pledge that—until I give you permission—you will make no attempt upon your life."

There was bewilderment now in his eyes

"Do you mean," he said, "that you might release me from that promise under certain circumstances?"

"That is exactly what I mean," I told him, "but—you must understand that the circumstances would have to be extraordinary and dreadful."

"They will be," he said dully "But, bless you for the 'out' you are giving me. And, counting on that I renew my pledge once more I will not again try to go out of this world under my own power until you release me from my pledge."

"That is all I want," I told him and did not add another word, for Katharine came swiftly back into the room.

"Sorry to have kept you waiting," she said "Now, Sam, you may have your five minutes alone with Madge. But, first, Madge, there is something for which I'll have to have your help for a minute. Will you come outside with me, please?"

"Of course," I said, and followed her to the corridor outside seeing, without surprise, the stalwart figure of "Mr. K" standing just outside the door

"I thought you went for reenforcements," I said

She shot a keen look at me

"Your voice sounds a note of disapproval," she said.

Voluntary Pledge

"No, indeed," I told her, "but I am sure neither 'Mr. K.' nor anyone else will be needed. Sam once gave me a voluntary pledge in gratitude, that I could ask anything of him, I claimed that pledge just now, and he has promised me that he will make no attempt on his life until I give him back that pledge"

"Something, of course, which you undoubtedly will do," Katharine said ironically. "Nevertheless"—and there was a slight edge in her voice—"I am afraid I shall not release 'Mr. K.' from a promise he and your father had given me He is going to stand just outside the door while you are talking to Sam, and the door will be opened, just a crack, so that 'Mr K.' can see Sam's every movement. He will not be able to hear anything you say—thus keeping faith with Sam—unless you raise your voice and call him. Then he will be at your side in nothing flat."
